Project Description

Lecturer: Gregor Maxwell

University/Company: Harstad University College

Country: Norwegen

Building Inclusive Societies: Effective Child Participation

Content:
Effective involvement of children in everyday life situations, such as school, play, family activities is critical for child development and the building of a fully functional and inclusive society. This course will give specific consideration to participation in relation to included and excluded children, and how this manifests and impacts on societies. Particular attention will be given to children who are excluded from life situations (e.g. play, school activities), for example children with disabilities, and how this relates to children’s involvement in school, and their academic and social development.

Methods: Lecturing and groupwork

Competences and skills to be acquired:
Knowledge about child participation, disability, and inclusion.

Prerequisite:
An interest in child development, welfare, and inclusion. A basic understanding of psychology.

Language of instruction: English

Suitable studies: PUMA, PMG, GUS, HP, TSA