17th International Project Week 2015
4th – 8th May 2015

Project Description

Lecturer: Jean François Vuylsteke

University/Company: EPHEC Brussels

Country: Belgien

Intercultural Communication Skills

Content:
Discover what cross-cultural communication is and check which skills can be developed to operate in a multicultural environment:
• Defining culture,
• Defining cross-cultural communication,
• Defining the biggest issues /obstacles and finding out how to get rid of those

Methods:
Workshops where students alternatively get some input information and share their experience and results of their investigations. Possibility to exchange with my Erasmus students on the topic (via Skype). Links (texts and videos) which must be dealt with

Competences and skills to be acquired:
By the end of the module, the students will be able to know which skills they need to develop if they want to operate in a multicultural environment

Prerequisite: Good communication skills in English

Language of instruction: English

Suitable studies: GUS, HP, TSA, SoMa, SyBa