Universal Declaration of Human Rights and their violations in the world

Content:

Universal Human Rights are fundamental for Human Being. World should be a brotherhood. Equality and non-discrimination is essential to live together in peace. We must protect life, liberty and security. Fight slavery. Fighting torture and degrading treatment. To be a person is before than to be a citizen.

The power of courts is independent and for everyone. There's no place to have arbitrary arrests. In criminal law we must follow the presumption of innocence and the principle of legality. There is a protection against arbitrary interference with privacy, family, home or correspondence.

Right to freedom of movement and residence. Right to leave the country and comeback. Right to seek asylum from unfair persecution. Right to nationality. Right to marry and to find a family always with consent. Right to property. Right to conscience and religion. Right to freedom and expression. Right to freedom of peaceful assembly and association. Right to free elections and to take part in the government of his country. Right to social security and to develop the personality. Right to work and fair work conditions as the salary. Right to rest and holidays. Right to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of each one and of his family. Protection of motherhood and childhood. Right to education. Right to participate freely in the cultural life of the community. Right to the protection of the moral and material interests.

Everyone is entitled to a social and international order in which the rights and freedoms set forth in Universal Declaration of Human Rights can be fully realized. Everyone has duties to the community in which the free and full development of his personality is possible. The limitations come from the democratic law respecting the liberties of each other. These rights, duties and freedoms may in no case be exercised contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations.
