Developing Self-leadership skills within the Social Work Environment.

Content:
We will cover the following six traits of the self-leader.
1. Being determined
2. Getting creative
3. Playing to your strengths
4. Having a vision for your life and work
5. Knowing your mission
6. Staying fully focused

Competences and skills to be acquired:
That the students will have got to look at and have come to know the six traits of the self-leader.
That the students will see where it is possible to use these six traits in their own professional development.
That the students have a full and clear understanding of the six traits of self-leadership and how best they can be used within a social work environment.
That they will see how best they can work with and assist others to reach their full potential within the social work environment in which they will work.

Methods:
This will involve group work assignments as well as feedback and input from the lecturer. That the students are prepared to come with open minds and get involved in all aspects of the class and our time together.

Prerequisites:
That the students are prepared to come with open minds and get involved in all aspects of the class and our time together.

Language of instruction: English

Recommended for: Social Studies